

Grayling Schools Open Tues., Sept. 6th

FEW CHANGES IN FACULTY. LARGE ENROLLMENT EXPECTED

The 1938-39 school year will be officially inaugurated in Grayling when pupils will return to school next Tuesday morning preparatory to starting the thirty-eight week schedule of classes which will come to a close next June. The first day will see no formal class work, but all grades and classes will meet on regular periods on Wednesday. Advance enrollment was held in the high school last spring and careful preparations have been made for the start of school with a minimum of time lost in adjustment. The South Side building will again be open to meet the needs of pupils on the South side of the river who have not reached the fourth grade level, and again all grades will be open in the high school building.

The faculty will include four new-comers to the Grayling school system, two in the high school, and two in the early elementary grades. Through the addition of another teacher a band is planned for the coming year, in addition to the departments that have been maintained in the past. The new teachers are Miss LaFave, Miss Anderson, Miss Hane, and Mr. Rowland. One shift in organization finds Mr. Bond taking over the duties of the principal's office.

MRS. O. W. HANSON ENTER-TAINS

A bridge-luncheon of very lovely appointments was given by Mrs. O. W. Hanson at her summer home at Lake Margrethe, Tuesday afternoon.

Some twenty-five guests were served on small tables scattered throughout the rooms and on the porch. Garden flowers of brilliant hues were arranged in attractive bouquets that gave an added loveliness to the rooms.

Honor scores for contract, which followed the luncheon, were held by Mrs. Ralph Routier and Mrs. Roy Milnes. The door prize was won by Miss Margrethe Bauman.

How to Vote Primary Ballots

ELECTION COMMISSION IN-STRUCTS TOWNSHIP OFFICERS

The primary election ballots will be somewhat different from those used in previous elections. For that reason the county election board, comprising Probate Judge Moore, County Clerk Peterson, and County Treasurer Ferguson held a school of instruction for the township and city officers the forepart of last week.

All the details relative to the conducting of the coming primary election were gone into and explained.

A voter instead of having to ask for his party ballot, as was formerly done, he will be given both a Republican and a Democratic ballot. These will be printed on separate sheets. The upper right hand corner will be perforated and contain the number of the ballot, as formerly. The upper left hand corner also will be perforated. A Republican and a Democratic ballot will be stapled together at the left perfor corners. Thus a voter will receive both party tickets.

Upon entering the election booth he will tear off the stapled corners and select the party ticket he desires to vote. He will be permitted to vote but one ballot. After marking the ballot of his choice, he will fold it so that the initials of the inspector show on the outside. Also he must fold the ballot that he does not vote. Both ballots he will give to the inspector and declare which is the voted ballot, which will be deposited in the "voted-ballot" box. The other ballot will be deposited in the "unvoted-ballot" box. Should the voter forget which is the voted ballot and which is the unvoted ballot, he must return to the voting booth and ascertain. Under no condition may he unfold the ballot before the inspector; should he do so the ballot becomes void and cannot be counted.

Ask Township Clerk

Should there be anyone wishing further instruction as to how to vote, he may consult his township or city clerk where he may receive full instructions.

ELECTION SUPPLIES NOW IN HANDS OF COUNTY CLERKS

Primary election supplies furnished by the Department of State are now in the hands of the County Clerks. These supplies consist of county canvassers' statements, placards of instructions to voters, paper seals for the ballots and metal seals for the ballot boxes. The Department of State does not furnish pencils, poll boxes and ballots; these must be furnished by the different counties.

However, the Secretary of State, as the chief election official designs these forms and supplies used in the elections so as to have uniformity throughout the State. Because of the new "Secret Primary Law" which was passed during the last legislature, two ballot boxes will be necessary this time rather than one used previously.

The Department is now sending out to all County Clerks, stickers to be placed on the ballot boxes with the legends, "Voted Ballots" and "Unvoted Ballots." The voters should remember in this election that they should separate their ballots, fold them individually, and hand them to the election official, designating which one is the "Voted Ballot."

Notice

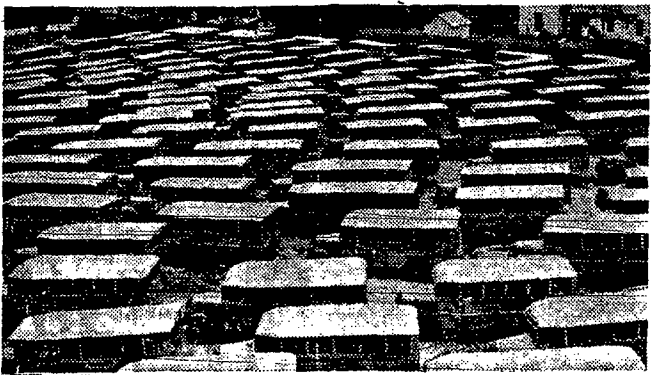

Voters of the City of Grayling: If you have not already registered please do so before September 3rd, as this is the last day you will be able to register before the primary election. Registrations are taken at the City office.

George Graaig, City Clerk.

Back to School on a Bus

Throughout America this week youngsters will retrace their steps to the school room to begin another year's study. Some walk, others ride, but none of the riders have a more unique system than the students of North Carolina where a state-operated bus system is handled largely by the students themselves. About 50 per cent of the bus drivers are of school age, and woe to the motorist who considers them lightly. Drivers appoint monitors, fellow bus riders who stop traffic while youngsters cross the street. Upper picture shows a North Carolina monitor, while below are some of the busses ready to take students home after a day in school. Each afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock hundreds of these conveyances carry the children to waiting parents.

Alfred Nephew Dies Suddenly

Alfred Nephew, of Lovells, age 58 years, passed away suddenly Tuesday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Nephew had come to Grayling on business and were at the Court house at about 3:30 o'clock and Mr. Nephew had just stepped into the County Treasurer's office and was making inquiry of Mr. Ferguson concerning some land when he swooned and fell to the floor. He was helped into a chair and a physician called, but he had passed away. Mrs. Nephew was with him and had gone into the Register of Deeds' office across the hall.

Alfred Burton Nephew was born in Midland, August 6, 1880, where his boyhood was spent. On October 13, 1901 he was united in marriage to Cora M. Key and in 1903 the couple came to Crawford county and settled in Lovells. Lovells was quite a busy place at that time and he worked for several years at the Douglas shingle mill. After the mill ceased operations he engaged in farming. For the past three years Mr. and Mrs. Nephew have been caretakers at the J. W. Anderson lodge.

Mr. Nephew served as road commissioner of Lovells township, and for several years past has been treasurer of the Lovells School District. Fishing was one of his favorite pastimes, and he enjoyed hunting small game. Funeral services are being held at the Grayling Funeral Home this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock and interment will be in Elmwood cemetery. Rev. H. W. Kuhlman of Michelson Memorial church will conduct the services, and the pallbearers are old Lovells friends, Roger Caid, Clarence Stillwagon, William T. Miller, Alfred and Dewey Hanna and Ray Duby.

Surviving the deceased besides his widow are two sons and two daughters, Mrs. Glenn Gregg of Kalkaska, and Francis, Elmo and Iris of Lovells. Also his mother Mrs. Louise Bush, three step-brothers and one step-sister, John Carl and Clyde Bush and Mrs. Edith McNutt of Pontiac. And there are seven grandchildren.

The Avalanche joins with many friends in extending sympathy to the family in their bereavement.

The City Truck will pick up rubbish if placed in containers in the street. Rubbish will be picked up the first Monday of each month.

MICKEY ROONEY GETS HIS STAR

Here's the life story of the former "tough guy" of the screen told by that ace reporter of Hollywood, Jim Tully. Watch for this article in This Week, the magazine with Sunday's Detroit News. A full page of photographs of Mickey Rooney, in addition, appears in the Pictorial Rotogravure Section.

Grayling Loses To Mackinac Island

It took thirteen innings to decide the fracas between the Grayling Merchants and the Mackinac Islanders last Sunday at the Island, the game ending with the boys at the Island being victorious by a score of 7 to 6.

Witnesses said it was one of the best games of the season, with both sides playing real ball. The score tying at 6 all in the ninth went four extra innings.

Winterlee pitching for Grayling was chalked up with allowing but five hits with no walks. Post was behind the bat. Courts registered the longest hit of the game.

Bob Hanson, playing shortstop, went out in the 9th inning owing to an injury to his arm.

Next Monday Kalkaska will play Grayling on the home lot and this is sure to be a thriller. Kalkaska has taken two games this season, and local fans are not satisfied with this record feeling sure that the Merchants can take the Kalkaskians into camp. Tickets are being sold for the game and a big crowd is anticipated.

Sunday, Grayling plays at Mancelona.

Cheboygan Staging Open Golf Tourney

Northern Michigan ace golfers will compete on Labor Day, Monday, September 5, in the first Northern Michigan Open Golf tournament ever sponsored in northern Michigan. The Northern Michigan Open is being sponsored by the Cheboygan Golf and Country Club as a result of much interest this year in an all northern golf tournament to attract leading golfers throughout the entire northern Michigan area. It is believed approximately seventy-five or one hundred of the Northern Michigan Aces will tee off in the tournament which will be played on a medal score basis over thirty-six holes of play. An entry fee of $1.50 is being charged and the sponsoring organization announces that there will be no additional fees.

Bill Griffith, Mullett Lake summer resident and former member of the University of Michigan Golf team, was the first entry received when news of the tournament spread rapidly. Griffith's entry was followed by a number of entries from leading golfers from other Northern Michigan cities and resort communities.

The Northern Michigan Open is expected to become an annual major classic and probably will be held in a different northern city each year.

KIWANIS CANOE CARNIVAL

Grayling Kiwanians and their ladies enjoyed the annual Kiwanis canoe carnival down the AuSable and a dinner at Edgewater resort Sunday. The first canoes embarked at about 9:00 a. m. The weather was delightful and the down river voyage amidst the scenic beauty of this noted trout stream is one long to be remembered. The first boats arrived at the Stephan resorts at about 4:00 p. m. and the last ones at about 5:00, just in time to answer the dinner bell. Porch and dining room tables were soon occupied by hungry and happy Kiwanians.

Someone Gets Duck

It is quite unusual, out of a large flotilla of canoes floating down the swift AuSable river that someone doesn't get a ducking. This time there were no upsets, but what happened was just about as exciting. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Trudgeon and Mr. and Mrs. Holger F. Peterson, occupying one canoe, were enjoying the trip when Mrs. Trudgeon decided to transfer her wristwatch to the other wrist. Well, the watch dropped into about five feet of water. She couldn't lose her fine watch so Hazel dove to the bottom but failed to get the watch. There it was bright and shiny lodged at the bottom of the river. "Hawk" came to the rescue. He said, "I hate to do this" and slid out of his pants and shirt and went to the bottom and rescued the missing jewelry. Outside of the two being drenched to their skins, every one had a marvelous time.

Invalid Mother Is Laid To Rest

Mrs. Thomas Wakeley passed away at her home in the down river district some time during the night Sunday after being critically ill for two weeks. Mrs. Wakeley had been ill for ten years with arthritis and for the past seven years had been an invalid. Her condition was such that she could not lie down and a chair was her only resting place day and night. Throughout these years she suffered intense pain, but she was patient and tried to look on the bright side of life.

Mrs. Wakeley before her marriage was Lillian Francis Hanna. She was born September 22, 1894 at Tiffin, Ohio, and came to Crawford county with her parents in 1916, the family settling in Lovells. In that same year she was united in marriage to Thomas L. Wakeley. To the union eight children were born a daughter Harriet, age 18, passing away on January 30, 1935, and a son Thomas, age 17, passed away on April 19 the same year, both from pneumonia. Those remaining besides the husband are two sons and four daughters, Richard, Francis, Madlyn, twin daughters Alice and Bessie and Earl. Also her mother Mrs. Joseph Duby, one sister Mrs. Mike McCormick and two brothers Alfred and Dewey Hanna, all of Lovells, survive.

Funeral services were held at the Grayling Funeral Home Tuesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. Rev. Floyd Barnes officiated and interment was in Elmwood cemetery. Pall bearers were George Skingley, Ted Stephan, Rudolph Feidhauser, Dan C. Babbitt, Roger Kneff and Norval Stephan. Attending the services were many neighbors and friends living in the down river district, and many from Lovells.

The husband and children have the sympathy of the community in their sorrow.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 1, 1938

THE PRIMARY election campaign finds all candidates for governor at top speed. Harry S. Toy and Former Governor Frank D.
Fitzgerald, republican candidates, are talking to large crowds and putting in long hours daily in order to bring their messages to the voters of Michigan. Mr.

Toy apparently has adopted "Mc-Kayism" for his slogan in his effort to belittle Mr. Fitzgerald. We believe the people of Michigan have better sense than to believe that Frank D. McKay of Grand Rapids has been guilty of criminal acts or even minor misdemeanors in his business practices. Of course he sold the state of Michigan auto and truck tires.
This was done thru contracts awarded after competitive bids.
A lot of dealers don't like McKay because he, as they say, cuts prices, while in reality he made fair profits, just as any other bidder could have done had he been willing to take less profit. McKay saved the taxpayers of Michigan a lot of money and, because he was a little smarter in business than some of his competitors, he made money for himself. McKay is a smart business man, but when anyone says he is crooked and dishonest, just don't believe it.
Frank D. Fitzgerald gave Michigan an honest and economical administration. He was one of the best governors Michigan ever had. We feel that Mr. Toy would make an excellent governor but are disappointed because of his making an issue of something that at the worst is only mythical.

We have a lot of confidence in Mr. Toy for governor, but we have more confidence in Mr. Fitzgerald because he has been tried and has proved his worth to the people of our state.

MUST BE IN CANADA 48 HOURS TO CLAIM EXEMPTION

This office has been advised by the Bureau of Customs at Washington, D. C., that the new Customs Administrative Act of 1938 became effective on Monday, July 25. A special feature of this Act in which residents of Michigan will be most interested, is the change in the $100 exemption clause. Up to the present time, there has been no time limit as to how long a resident of the United States had to be in Canada in order to be entitled to an exemption. The new law provides that a resident of the United States must be in Canada for a continuous period of at least 48 hours before such resident is entitled to any exemption on articles acquired while in Canada.

The law further provides that but one exemption may be granted within any one 30-day period. Violations of this provision subject the resident to severe penalties.

The returning resident must declare all articles acquired by him abroad to the Customs Officer at the place where such resident re-enters the United States. This declaration must show all articles acquired, whether by purchase, gift, or otherwise, and whether such articles are accompanying the resident or are to be shipped at a later date. Failure to declare all articles acquired abroad to the Customs Officer, subjects the articles not declared to seizure and the resident to a severe penalty.

The 48-hour provision just incorporated in the United States Customs Law has been a part of the Canadian Customs Law for some time.

Captain Kidd Not Worst Among the Busy Pirates

Captain Kidd is perhaps the best known figure in pirate history, but not the worst, asserts a writer in the Portland Oregonian. Some say he was not a real pirate, but he certainly did some bad things when he got over there in the Indian ocean. After a trial in England, he was condemned to death and was hanged on May 23, 1701. Some of "Captain Kidd's treasure" was located on Gardiner's island, off the eastern end of Long Island.

Far worse was the buccaneer, Henry Morgan. Born in Wales, he sailed to the New World in his youth and joined a band of pirates in the Caribbean sea. Rising to be their leader he became more cruel than any who had led them before. "Set a thief to catch a thief" seems to have been the plan of the English king. Morgan was sent to Jamaica as governor, with orders to stop piracy, and captured some of his one-time comrades.

Roberts and Teach were terrors of the sea after Morgan and Kidd had breathed their last. Roberts was something of a dandy, wearing stylish clothes and a necklace, even a cross. He told his men they ought not to drink hard liquor, but he let them steal and plunder. Teach was a ruffian type, and tried to make himself look as ugly as possible. People called him "Blackbeard." At length he was shot when his ship was captured by Virginia colonists and British sailors.

Stools Once Only Seats Used by Common People

For centuries of primitive living a stool or horizontal plank of wood elevated to be a bench of some kind was the usual support of the human frame in its sitting position. Stools first came into use when the need to be felt for a movable seat.

—something lighter than or benches. Chairs were only for royalty and the nobility and no ordinary person dreamed of aspiring to them. Outside of the large and heavy armchairs reserved for their special use, benches, chests and stools were the only seats in all but the wealthiest households. Stools were made in great quantities until Commonwealth times when more democratic principles prevailed. The custom was then abandoned and master and servant used the same kind of seat. This led to the common use of chairs by all grades of society, relates Alice R. Rollins in the Los Angeles Times.

The round three-legged stool was a primitive affair, destitute of ornament and rudely and heavily made. By the middle of the Sixteenth century it had acquired four legs, braced together with stretchers, and the frame was turned or often well carved. Stools continued to be made and used extensively until the end of the Seventeenth century when chairs became cheaper and their lack of comfort caused them to fall into disuse.

China Has Suicide Mountain A cruel trick of nature causes many suicides on sacred Mt. Omei, according to the Chinese government in discussing the 11,000-foot peak which sits on a carpet of clouds. At the top, pilgrims stand on a plateau, look down and sometimes see on clouds below the "image of Buddha." Believing he has come in person to welcome them to the after-life, they jump off the cliff. Actually, the "image of Buddha" is their own shadows, cast on the clouds below by the sun. Nature has other tricks that lead humans astray. Best known is the mirage, the reflection of distant objects by rebounding light. Mirages occur most often in deserts, but back in 1868 Gaston Tissandier reported one from a balloon above Calais, France. He saw ships, "sailing in the sky," reflected from the English channel.

Slayers of Presidents Leon Czolgosz, McKinley's murderer, was electrocuted in the state prison at Auburn, N. Y., October 29, 1901. After an autopsy his body was buried in quicklime in the prison lot in an Auburn cemetery. Charles Guiteau, who killed Garfield, drew up a will shortly before he was hanged on June 30, 1882, in which he left the disposition of his body to Reverend William Hicks, who spent the last hours with him. It was buried beneath the pavement of a court in a wing of the jail in Washington, D. C., where he was executed.

Nature Builds a Bridge Nature is making a bridge in the Kleinwals valley in the province of Vorarlberg, Austria. The "structure," which spans the Schwarzwasser river, consists of chalkstone furrowed by the rushing water. Reports received in Vienna say it has a span of 30 feet and this is growing. The arch of the bridge is carried by three pine trees which have grown into it from underneath.

Sugar Fetes Baby To celebrate the birth of an heir presumptive to the throne, every home in Trivapdrum, India, received a gift of a cupful of white sugar. Cartloads of the sweet passed through all streets and stopped at each house. Distribution of sugar is an ancient Indian custom in celebrating births.

How would you like to be told---

"YOUR CHILD WAS KILLED TODAY"

A thing so horrible . . . so unthinkable . . . can't happen to you! Thus you reason and perish the thought from your mind. But mothers and fathers are told nearly every day, "Your child was killed today" . . . and practically every time, the finger of blame can be pointed at a careless motorist. If it can happen to the other person . . . IT CAN HAPPEN TO YOU! But . . . it won't happen to you or anyone else if you and every one else obey traffic laws and regulations. Merely expressing your intentions of driving carefully is not enough. You've got to learn the laws if you don't know them. You've got to think . . . you've got to keep your mind alert . . . you've got to keep your ears and eyes open to avoid disaster. Above all . . . you've got to drive carefully!

DEAFNESS IN CHILDREN

Deafness in children is widely prevalent and frequently is not recognized by parents, who are unaware of its serious implications.

It is often slight at first but produces an early psychological effect of inferiority as the child grows older, while mentally capable he gradually becomes discouraged because he does not seem to have accomplished much in school.

It prevents proper school progress and may be the beginning of delinquency.

One of the chief reasons to protect children against measles, mumps, diphtheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough and chicken pox is to prevent impairment of the special senses, such as eye trouble and middle ear infection.

The running ear tends to appear in families of children. Why this should be is not known, but contagious diseases tend to tax certain organs or tissues more severely in different families.

A powerful germ may select only the nerve of hearing, or it may select the kidneys or heart for the detrimental complications for this group of diseases.

There is no universal cure for beginning deafness in children. We know, however, from experience with the common cold and diseased adenoids—that these produce immediate impairment of hearing which may result in gradually advancing deafness. It has been estimated that about 3,000,000 children in the United States have subnormal hearing.

Another point regarding the prevention of deafness in children is that parents do not fully appreciate the risk to which children are subjected by careless swimming habits.

Children with large adenoids and tendencies towards colds should spend only short intervals in swimming, 10 to 15 minutes, and refrain from diving.

Some children show marked fullness in the ears and deafness for varying periods after prolonged swimming and diving. Where this occurs this exercise may result in permanent deafness if it is not curtailed. Loud nose blowing following diving is a wrong practice.

Children should be cautioned against it. A child highly susceptible to colds had probably better indulge in land exercises under careful supervision. There is no particular point in trying to harden such children to the effects of swimming.

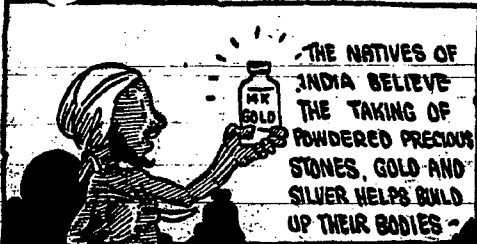

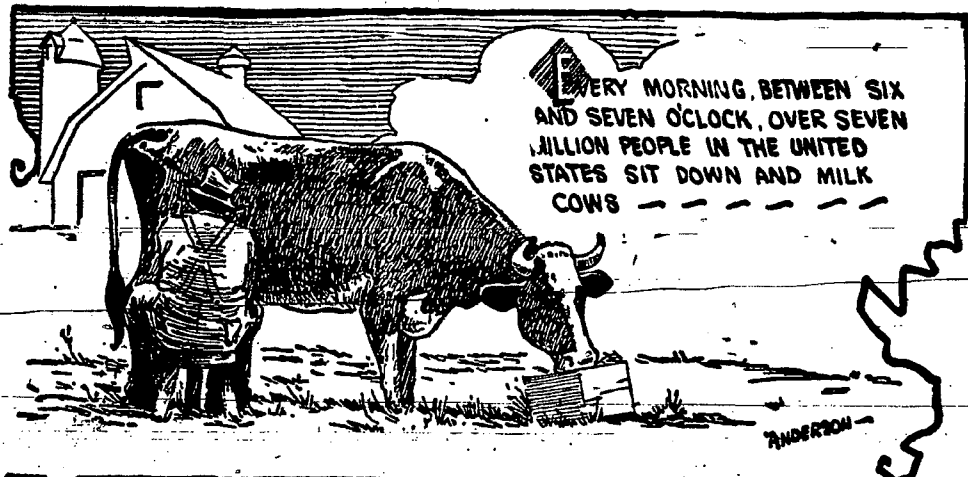

Should parents suspect the impairment of hearing in a child the audiometer may be used immediately by the family physician for its detection. If deafness is present in either ear every effort must be made to prevent the common cold and other respiratory infection and the contagious diseases of children. If necessary, the tonsils and adenoids should be removed at an earlier age than is common in order to prevent the progress of loss of hearing.

"But Sam," exclaimed Hiram, "the critter's not worth more'n ten dollars."

Trois Rivieres, Quebec,

Grew From Trading Post
Trois Rivieres, Quebec, the French-Canadian city, midway between Montreal and Quebec and 90 miles distant from each, first appears in history when Father Le Caron, Recollet monk, celebrated the mass at this point on the shores of the St. Lawrence on July 25, 1615. The city itself was founded in 1634 by Chevalier de Laviolette, and the name Trois Rivieres (Three Rivers) was given to it because the three branches of the St. Maurice river join the waters of the St. Lawrence at this spot, writes a Trois Rivieres (Quebec) correspondent in the New York World-Telegram.

The St. Maurice river received its name from Maurice Paulin, first owner of the Maurice Iron foundries.

Trois Rivieres during the Seventeenth century became not only an important fur trading post but also a meeting place for the making of treaties between the Indians and the French.

In 1632, on August 18, a large war party of Iroquois Indians ravaged the vicinity and massacred many of the inhabitants. A carved group representing the crucifixion of Christ, known as "Le Calvaire," on the Montreal-Quebec highway, commemorates this event.

Trois Rivieres was the birthplace of Pierre Gauthier de Varenne, Sieur de la Verendrye, who spent his life in exploring the great West, his two sons discovered the Rocky mountains in 1743.

In 1776 a detachment of American troops commanded by Capt. William DuRoi took possession of the town, but retired on May 20 of the same year.

Amethysts in Purples,

Pinks and Lilac Shades
The most beautiful and probably the most important member of the quartz family, the amethyst varies in color from royal purple to the lightest shades of purple, and from brownish pink to light pink and lilac.

This stone was in great demand among the Greeks and Romans because of the belief that the wearing of an amethyst had the power to expel poison, make its wearer expert in business affairs and victorious in chase and battle, writes a correspondent in the Montreal Herald.

While the vogue of the amethyst has risen and waned in past years, there has never been a period when this beautiful stone has not been sought for by those who appreciate jewelry for their artistic value. Under the dichroscope two images are generally seen in the dark violet colored amethyst—one reddish and one bluish purple.

The amethyst will not stand high temperature, as it loses its color and turns yellow; in fact, many of the quartz topaz are produced by "burning amethysts."

The greater number of amethysts come from Brazil and Uruguay, the commercial designation for the medium grades being "Brazilian amethysts," while the rich dark-purple stones are known as the "Uruguay amethyst."

Some fine amethyst pebbles are found in the gem-bearing gravels of Ceylon, but these stones are not plentiful enough to have commercial importance.

Many Round Towers in Ireland

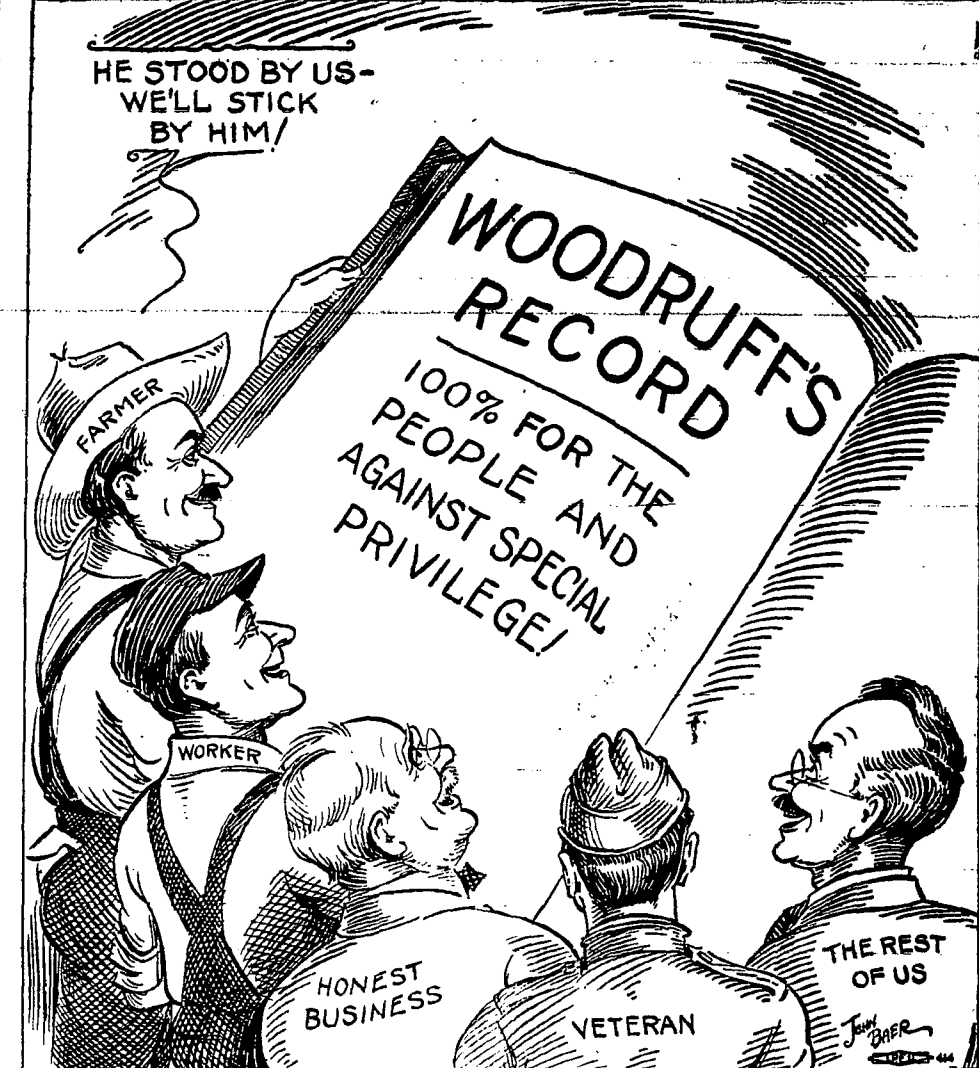

The most remarkable examples of early Irish building are the Round Towers, of which over a hundred remain in Ireland, though scarcely an example elsewhere. Tall, circular columns, rising to 80 feet high and averaging 15 in diameter, they were used as belltowers, as lookout posts and chiefly as places of refuge. The lowest opening was high above the ground, reached by a ladder which could be drawn up. Inside was a wooden framework of four or five stories, and in here the monks carried their treasures, vessels of price and chiefly written books, when marauders came. The masonry at the base was built to defy fire or the battering ram. These round towers are more than a thousand years old.

Treasures Buried Beneath Panama

In spite of the fact that Morgan and his men after having razed and burned Panama took away 165 mule loads of jewels, huge quantities of gold and silver, sacred golden cups, pearls and precious stones, the tradition is that beneath the ruins of that historical city are buried treasures, hidden by the natives in the hope of saving their riches from the greed of the pirates. A few years ago valuable antique jewels, altar pieces and gold ornaments used in churches were found in excavations made with the consent of the authorities.

Whiskers Mark of Strength

Whiskers have long been the mark of a real man. By nature, women, boys and girls can't grow 'em, observes a writer in the Washington Post. Elizabethan writers tell how men "wasted many hours" on their beards and mustaches, perfuming, starching, powdering and curling them. A few decades ago American dandies were careful to wrap their curled and waxed mustaches in lint before shaving. And as late as 1907 French writers went on strike because they had been forbidden to grow mustaches.

WOMEN TAKE UP HAMMERS, SAWS

"Bring your hammer and saw and spend the afternoon," may be the new form for an afternoon invitation in the rural sections of Michigan.

The vogue for homemade toys that are sturdy, easily made and that satisfy the children is responsible for this new kind of party, which the women are holding in several communities this summer.

Tin cans are being washed and put away while small wooden boxes that held cheese or prunes no longer find their way into the wood box for kindling but are saved for toy-making.

A number 10 tin can painted in a gay color or with bands of color is transformed into a drum when an old inner tube is stretched over the ends and secured in place with strong laces, cut from the same tube. Another drum is made from a wooden bowl with an inner tube stretched over the top and held in place with gayly colored thumb tacks. Suggestions are offered for these and other toys by extension service staff members of Michigan State College.

A nested set of tin cans of graduated sizes painted in soft but bright colors, gives amusement for children 18 months to three years old. Of course the open edge must be perfectly smooth and turned to avoid any danger from scratches.

Empty spools of varying sizes either plain or painted are easily strung on stout cord by small fingers. The same spools on an elastic make a lively "spool doll" whose sturdy legs and arms survive much use.

A baking powder can and some wood blocks with a bit of paint become a sturdy locomotive with half a spool for the locomotive bell and another spool for the smoke stack. Metal gliders on the bottom make it slide easily over the floor. Cigar boxes minus their covers become useful box cars, when hooked to the engine with screw eyes and screendor hooks.

TIME SAVERS FOR YOUNG MOTHERS

Tips for saving time are usually welcomed by young mothers if the ideas are not donated by mothers-in-law.

So Evalyn Bergstrand, instructor in home management and child development at Michigan State College, has devised a few suggestions useful to young mothers anxious to take some of the worries out of homemaking. Use as many knit and crepe materials as possible to avoid ironing, is one of her ideas.

Time is saved if the baby's washing can be done every other or third day instead of every day. This, says Miss Bergstrand, has one drawback in that a greater supply of clothing is necessary.

If the baby gets his codliver oil and orange juice while he is undressed just before a bath, there is a considerable saving in time because clothes are not stained with the feedings.

Some mothers have discovered that in preparing vegetables, fruits and other foods they save time if they do it while bottles are being sterilized. In some households larger amounts of saved foods are prepared and canned for later use in sterilized jars using proper methods.

Perhaps a larger tray will mean one trip for a meal instead of several. A basket for the baby's toys might help in carrying them from one room to another.

A removable gate which can be attached at a stairway or doorway means less watching during the days when creeping is in style. An outdoor play pen is another time-saver in permitting mothers to spend their time more efficiently in getting household chores out of the way.

"But Sam," exclaimed Hiram, "the critter's not worth more'n ten dollars."

"Well, sposin' I keep 'er for pasture'n 'er, then."

"Not by a jugful," exploded Hiram. Then, after thinking, he added: "Tell you what I'll do. You keep 'er two weeks more an' you kin have 'er."

Trois Rivieres, Quebec, Grew From Trading Post

Trois Rivieres, Quebec, the French-Canadian city, midway between Montreal and Quebec and 90 miles distant from each, first appears in history when Father Le Caron, Recollet monk, celebrated the mass at this point on the shores of the St. Lawrence on July 25, 1615. The city itself was founded in 1634 by Chevalier de Laviolette, and the name Trois Rivieres (Three Rivers) was given to it because the three branches of the St. Maurice river join the waters of the St. Lawrence at this spot, writes a Trois Rivieres (Quebec) correspondent in the New York World-Telegram.

The St. Maurice river received its name from Maurice Paulin, first owner of the Maurice Iron foundries.

Trois Rivieres during the Seventeenth century became not only an important fur trading post but also a meeting place for the making of treaties between the Indians and the French.

In 1652, on August 18, a large war party of Iroquois Indians ravaged the vicinity and massacred many of the inhabitants. A carved group representing the crucifixion of Christ, known as "Le Calvaire," on the Montreal-Quebec highway, commemorates this event.

Trois Rivieres was the birthplace of Pierre Gauthier de Varenne, Sieur de la Verendrye, who spent his life in exploring the great West, his two sons discovered the Rocky mountains in 1743.

In 1776 a detachment of American troops commanded by Capt. William Duforth took possession of the town, but retired on May 20 of the same year.

Amethysts in Purples, Pinks and Lilac Shades

The most beautiful and probably the most important member of the quartz family, the amethyst varies in color from royal purple to the lightest shades of purple, and from brownish pink to light pink and lilac.

This stone was in great demand among the Greeks and Romans because of the belief that the wearing of an amethyst had the power to expel poison, make its wearer expert in business affairs and victorious in chase and battle, writes a correspondent in the Montreal Herald.

While the vogue of the amethyst has risen and waned in past-years, there has never been a period when this beautiful stone has not been sought for by those who appreciate jewels for their artistic value. Under the dichroscope two images are generally seen in the dark violet colored amethyst—one reddish and one bluish purple.

The amethyst will not stand high temperature, as it loses its color and turns yellow; in fact, many of the quartz topaz are produced by "burning amethysts."

The greater number of amethysts come from Brazil and Uruguay, the commercial designation for the medium grades being "Brazilian amethysts," while the rich dark-purple stones are known as the "Uruguay amethysts."

Some fine amethyst pebbles are found in the gem-bearing gravels of Cayton, but these stones are not plentiful enough to have commercial importance.

Many Round Towers in Ireland

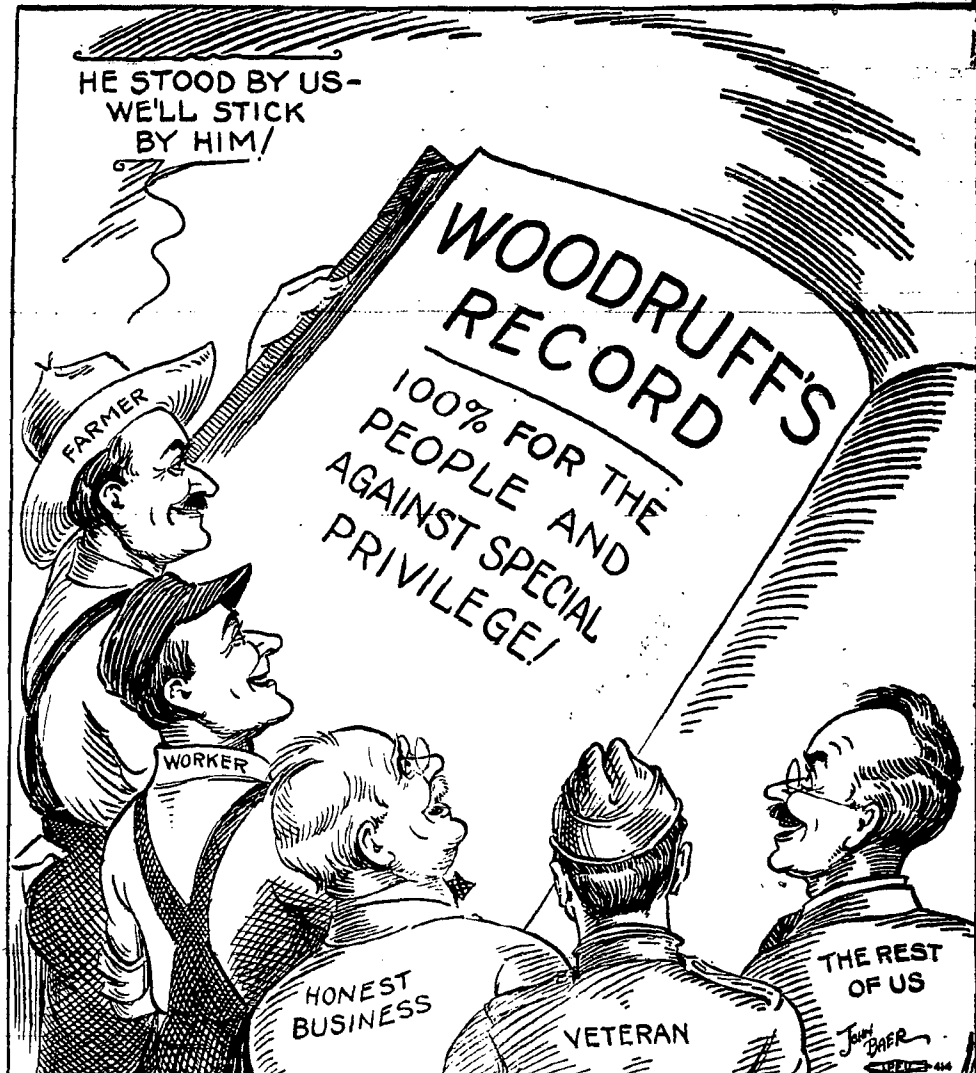

The most remarkable examples of early Irish building are the Round Towers, of which over a hundred remain in Ireland, though scarcely an example elsewhere. Tall, circular columns, rising to 80 feet high and averaging 15 in diameter, they were used as belltowers, as lookout posts and chiefly as places of refuge. The lowest opening was high above the ground, reached by a ladder which could be drawn up. Inside was a wooden framework of four or five stories, and in here the monks carried their treasures, vessels of price and chiefly written books, when marauders came. The masonry at the base was built to defy fire or the battering ram. These round-towers are more than a thousand years old.

Treasures Buried Beneath Panama

In spite of the fact that Morgan and his men after having razed and burned Panama took away 185 mule loads of jewels, huge quantities of gold and silver, sacred golden cups, pearls and precious stones, the tradition is that beneath the ruins of that historical city are buried treasures, hidden by the natives in the hope of saving their riches from the greed of the pirates. A few years ago valuable antique jewels, altar pieces and gold ornaments used in churches were found in excavations made with the consent of the authorities.

Whiskers Mark of Strength

Whiskers have long been the mark of a real man. By nature, women, boys and girls can't grow 'em, observes a writer in the Washington Post. Elizabethan writers tell how men "wasted many hours" on their beards and mustaches, performing, starching, powdering and curling them. A few decades ago American dandies were careful to wrap their curled and waxed mustaches in tin foil before shaving. And as late as 1897 French waiters went on strike because they had been forbidden to grow mustaches.

WOMEN TAKE UP HAMMERS, SAWS

"Bring your hammer and saw and spend the afternoon," may be the new form for an afternoon invitation in the rural sections of Michigan.

The vogue for homemade toys that are sturdy, easily made and that satisfy the children is responsible for this new kind of party, which the women are holding in several communities this summer.

Tin cans are being washed and put away while small wooden boxes that held cheese or prunes no longer find their way into the wood box for kindling but are saved for toy-making.

A number 10 tin can painted in a gay color or with bands of color is transformed into a drum when an old inner tube is stretched over the ends and secured in place with thong lacing cut from the same tube. Another drum is made from a wooden bowl with an inner tube stretched over the top and held in place with gayly colored thumb tacks. Suggestions are offered for these and other toys by extension service staff members of Michigan State College.

A nested set of tin cans of graduated sizes painted in soft but bright colors, gives amusement for children 18 months to three years old. Of course the open edge must be perfectly smooth and turned to avoid any danger from scratches.

Empty spools of varying sizes either plain or painted are easily strung on stout cord by small fingers. The same spools on an elastic make a lively "spool doll" whose sturdy legs and arms survive much use.

A baking powder can and some wood blocks with a bit of paint become a sturdy locomotive with half a spool for the locomotive bell and another spool for the smoke stack. Metal gliders on the bottom make it slide easily over the floor. Cigar boxes minus their covers become useful box cars, when hooked to the engine with screw eyes and screendoor hooks.

TIME SAVERS FOR YOUNG MOTHERS

Tips for saving time are usually welcomed by young mothers if the ideas are not donated by mothers-in-law.

So Evalyn Bergstrand, instructor in home management and child development at Michigan State College, has devised a few suggestions useful to young mothers anxious to take some of the worries out of homemaking.

Use as many knit and crepe materials as possible to avoid ironing, is one of her ideas. Time is saved if the baby's washing can be done every other or third day instead of every day. This, says Miss Bergstrand, has one drawback in that a greater supply of clothing is necessary.

If the baby gets his codliver oil and orange juice while he is undressed just before a bath, there is a considerable saving in time because clothes are not stained with the feedings.

Some mothers have discovered that in preparing vegetables, fruits and other foods they save time if they do it while bottles are being sterilized. In some households larger amounts of self-cooked are prepared and canned for later use in sterile jars using proper methods. Perhaps a larger tray will mean one trip for a meal instead of several. A basket for the baby's toys might help in carrying them from one room to another.

A removable gate which can be attached at a doorway or doorway means less watching during the days when creeping is in style. An outdoor play pen is another time-saver in permitting mothers to spend their time more efficiently in getting household chores out of the way.

BLUE GOOSE LINES INSTALL NEW GAR WOOD BUSES

Blue Goose Lines operating between Detroit, Sault Ste. Marie, Petoskey and Alpena for the past several years, has installed a new fleet of Gar Wood motorbuses on its Northern division.

The buses of 22 passenger capacity, were designed by William B. Stout, famous airplane designer, and built by Gar Wood, widely-known speedboat racer and several times winner of the Harnsworth cup.

The buses are exceptionally safe and fast. The body is of steel, and well insulated, while the frame is of chromium-manganese steel tubing, trussed and braced like a bridge, and acetylene welded into a single unit of tremendous rigidity.

The eight cylinder engine is mounted in the rear, and four-wheel air brakes keep the vehicle always under the driver's control. Heavy duty shock absorbers add to the riding qualities of the bus. All windows are provided with safety glass.

The interior of the bus is paneled in cheerful colors, while the full reclining chairs with head rests are comfortably upholstered in green mohair. Padded and upholstered baggage racks provide ample space for luggage. The coaches are ventilated by built-in exhaust fans, and hot water heaters will provide plenty of warmth for cold days.

General Manager P. L. Radcliffe, of Blue Goose Lines, declared today, "These new coaches will provide the comfortable, fatigue-proof sort of ride our passengers in the northern part of Michigan will appreciate. The coaches are built for safety, yet they are capable of traveling safely at a speed faster than used by the average driver. Motorbus travel from Detroit to the north is increasing, and these new buses are a part of our contribution to the development of northern Michigan."

HUNTER'S AUSABLE DAIRY

Amos Hunter has operated his dairy business from his basement for a period of seven years. He has often thought it would be better if he had a store separate from the dairy. With the one entrance there is too much confusion as milk comes in from the farms, together with noises created through the daily routine while keeping equipment clean.

Therefore, he is renting the building of Mrs. Holger Schmidt which has been known in the past as the Sandwich Shop. Its location is next to the M. E. church. From here another milk route will be operated and it will be known as Hunter's Ausable Dairy.

The last time a sample of Mr. Hunter's milk was analyzed the result was 2000 colonies of bacteria per cubic centimeter. The State law allows 50,000 bacteria per cubic centimeter. This analysis was very satisfactory and Amos says credit was not only due his dairy, but was also due to the fine manner in which the farmers prepared the milk for the market and to State inspectors who supervise operations, both at the farms and at the dairy. "This," Mr. Hunter says, "does not imply that his milk is better than that of his competitors' product, however the quality of his product is unequalled anywhere."

Izaak Walton League Meets

Regular monthly meetings of the Rubie Babbitt Chapter of the Izaak Walton League will start with a meeting called for September 15, 1938. This meeting will be held at the Court House and will get under way at 8:15 p. m. No meetings have been called during the summer months due to the hot weather and various activities of members during the summer and tourist season.

Many problems concerning conservation in Crawford county will come up before this meeting and all members are urgently requested to attend. The matter of sewage being emptied into our rivers by private owners of property will be discussed and means taken to stop this practice.

Another matter of importance is the increasing difficulty experienced by fishermen this locality attracts in getting in and out of our streams without trespassing on private property. Each year finds more property along our streams posted against trespassing and various suggestions have been offered to make it more convenient for the public to secure access to and from the streams. One suggestion favored opening of more section-line roads and still another that Michigan adopt a condemnation law for streams and lake frontage, as many other states have found it necessary to do. Under this law a strip of land along the edges of streams and lakes is condemned for public use in order that the public may have access to the water without trespassing.

Many other suggestions along various lines have been made and the Izaak Walton League requests that all who have suggestions to offer that should properly come before this organization, be sent in, or still better, attend this meeting and offer them in person.

ENJOY VISIT FROM STATE OFFICER

Through the co-operation of the Democratic County Committee and the Women's Democratic club, a noon meeting was arranged Tuesday, when Mrs. James H. McDonald, of Ypsilanti, vice chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee stopped in Grayling.

Luncheon was enjoyed by an interested group of ladies and gentlemen at the Northern Club, the meeting following. Mrs. John Brady, vice chairman of Grayling Club, presided in the absence of Chairman Mrs. Adolph Peterson.

Mrs. McDonald cited the many accomplishments of Governor Murphy and said she fully defended civil service. Mrs. McDonald was accompanied by her secretary, Mrs. Mona Fehrenbaker of Ypsilanti and Mrs. Harold McLee of Battle Creek, the latter director of Reporter plan in the lower peninsula. The latter talked on Women's county organization.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. McDonald was presented with a beautiful corsage from the Grayling club, and Mrs. James McDonnell of Grayling was also presented with a corsage.

Proposed Super Dixie Highway

A U. S. Super Dixie Highway association has been formed which includes members from nine States through which this super highway will run. The proposed highway will extend from Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, to Miami, Florida, with a branch off at Atlanta, Georgia through Birmingham and on to the Gulf of Mexico.

This association is the result of the Government's plan to construct super-highways from east to west in this country and the highway will be a two-lane with parkway in the center.

The Michigan association was organized August 19, 1938 at a meeting and dinner held at the Detroit Athletic club at which Frank A. Picard was elected President; Gar Wood, vice president; Henry S. Hulbert, treasurer and Richard Harst of the Detroit Automobile Club, secretary.

The Board of Directors were selected from various Michigan counties through which this proposed highway will run, with R. A. Wright elected from Crawford county. Let's hope that it is possible to secure this super highway as it will run through Grayling and will mean a lot to this community and Michigan.

Lansing—In face of Governor Murphy's demand for economy, the state payroll was higher for July.

In 18 months it has jumped $9,420,285, as compared with a $4,530,000 payroll increase during the Fitzgerald administration and a $2,223,000 wage boost during the Comstock regime.

Now, at a time when the Murphy administration deficit may reach the $13,800,000 mark (August 1 estimate), the Civil Service commission is asked to increase the minimum pay of state employees from $80 to $100, the latter being C.I.O. demand. Commission employees receive $80 to $100 a month, while pay for technical, professional and executive work begins at $150 a month and rises to $500.

Furthermore, the civil service pay scale for skilled tradesmen is $28 to $30 under union wage rates. The "rub" is this: State pay is regular while union tradesmen, paid by the hour, are subject to irregular work.

State Finances

According to Harold D. Smith, state budget director, Michigan is in a much more favorable financial position than most of the other states.

Michigan operates on a "pay as you go" policy, its bonded debt being insignificant.

Thirty five of the 48 states have a per capita debt greater than that of Michigan which is $4.43. The average for all states is $17.85. For example, New York's is $41.55; Illinois, $35.69; California, $18.20, and Pennsylvania, $11.80.

Including bonded indebtedness in the basis of comparison, Budget Director Smith says that Michigan is one of 21 states which have decreased their debts in the last seven years, while 25 other states were increasing theirs.

California's general fund deficit in 1937 was $7,500,000, but the state had $44,000,000 in relief bonds outstanding. Michigan has issued no relief bonds, "paying as we go." Our entire bonded indebtedness in 1937 was $23,271,000.

As a non-partisan state news commentator, we present the above facts for what they are worth.

Crop Outlook Bright

Diversified Michigan agriculture is producing good crops. This year, in fact, the composite index for 18 leading crops as of Aug. 1 was 79.9, the third highest for any August in ten years although below that for 1937.

The wheat crop estimate is 18,827,000 bushels, the largest 1919. A harvest of corn averaging 34 bushels to the acre is estimated with a total yield of 87,240,000 bushels as compared with 85, 650,000 bushels in 1937.

A potato crop of 29,904,000 bushels is estimated, while the beet sugar yield of 1,102,000 tons would be double that of last year.

The fruit harvests, however, are considerably below those of 1937. Only peaches will yield a larger crop, it is announced by Verne H. Church, senior agricultural statistician.

Gasoline Price Fixing

When gasoline dealers cut prices, motorists benefit in reduced costs.

Gasoline taxes and motor vehicle registration fees amounted to $51,510,000 in Michigan last year. You can't blame automobile owners for wanting to get gasoline at lower prices.

Last year the legislature was induced to enact a "fair trade" statute, lobbied for by the Retail Gasoline Dealers' association, a state group formed for the specific purpose of increasing dealer profits through curtailment of competition. Ballots are now being sent out by the association to determine the average operating costs of a gasoline station.

The poll is said to presage attempts to peg the minimum price of gasoline at 17.6 cents a gallon, just a cent higher than prevailing prices in Detroit. In 1938 Michigan service stations sold within 5,000 of one billion gallons.

Translated into money, the one cent price hike would mean a mere ten million dollars. Believe it or not!

Dairy Profits

Price-pegging of milk will be sought from the 1939 state legislature.

This movement is indicated by the warm reception given by dairy farmers to political denunciation of present low milk prices at wholesale.

In New York state the firm of Ernst & Ernst, public accountants, was hired by farmers and dealers to find out what became of the consumer's milk dollar. Here are the results: 44 cents to farmer; 26 cents to labor; 11 cents for rent and repairs; nine cents for bottles, cases and hauling; two cents for power, light and heat; less than one-half cent for official salaries, and less than three cents for profit.

The average profit per quart of milk during 1937 was one-eighth of a cent.

In California a decline in milk consumption (7% nationally) was leveraged by a three-month campaign of newspaper advertising. The California Retail Grocers' association reports that sales remained normal. So did milk prices.

The mirage of political control, however, is very luring. But even a legislature can't regulate the old law of supply and demand.
